...and wear socks that feel "just right."

Do you ever feel different?

I need extra time to get dressed and ready for a new activity.

And it's OK if I do things differently.

What makes you feel better?

There are still many days when I scream and cry if something is annoying.
But now the people around me try to help me when that happens, because they know my feelings are real.
A gentle hug sure does feel better than an angry yell.
